Federal VIPs At Launching

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — "It's kind of like standing around the hospital room before your first baby is born," former President Lyndon B. Johnson said as he and 500 other special guests marked time before the Apollo 11 launching.

"You must be prepared to accept the worst, but you hope for the best," Johnson explained.

Vice President Spiro Agnew, like Johnson, arrived in the jam-packed Cape Kennedy area on the eve of the flight to the moon and attended a private dinner party given by Dr. Thomas O. Paine, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Not all the VIPs had housing in the immediate vicinity of this cape midway down Florida's east coast. Dr. Lee A. Dubridge, President Nixon's science adviser, stayed overnight in Orlando, 50 miles away.

Poor Protest
Sixty-nine ambassadors of foreign governments fly in this morning, as do many other visitors.

Ten representatives of the "Poor People's Campaign" of the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy were added to the VIP list after a meeting with Paine.

They protested the nation's high spending on space exploration compared to antipovetry programs.

Paine promised Abernathy 10 VIP passes and said if it would solve the problems of the poor by withholding the Apollo 11 shot no button would be pushed, but it wasn't that simple.

President Nixon wasn't here to join the 40 mayors, 19 governors and 275 U.S. business leaders on the VIP list, but he tele-

Foreign Papers Cover Apollo; Bets Placed

LONDON — (AP) — Newspapers and TV stations around the world geared up today for marathon coverage of the Apollo 11 mission, and a British science fiction fan got ready to collect $24,000 on a $24 bet.

David Threlfall of Lancashire will win 10,000 pounds Sunday if astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. land their lunar module on the moon. Five years ago, Threlfall put down 10 pounds with a bookie who was offering 1,000-to-1 odds that man would not reach the moon before 1971.

All London newspapers played the Apollo story on their front pages. "We're all ready to fly," bannered the Daily Sketch. The Daily Express, reporting the relaxed attitude of the three astronauts, asked in a headline: "HO HUM — ANYONE FOR THE MOON TODAY?"

British television stations scheduled live coverage through splashdown time next Thursday, and the British Broadcasting Corp. arranged to relay the broadcasts by cable to the continent. The BBC planned to receive the signals via transatlantic satellite at a cost of up to $240 a minute.

Church bells will ring throughout Venezuela and Brazil Monday as Armstrong and Aldrin step down to the moon's surface. Plans were reported under way in Venezuela to declare the day a holiday.

In moonstruck Japan, millions were expected to watch the landing in live telecasts beamed via satellite. One TV announcer planned to live in a guarded hotel room through Tuesday, wearing a space suit and eating space food. Department stores displayed models of the Apollo command ship; Apollo models are being used as portable shrines at summer festivals.

The Cheese Club in Melbourne, Australia, sent the astronauts a telegram saying: "If you find moon made from green cheese as hoped by many Australian cheese lovers we would welcome sample for special cheese tasting."

Lull Continues In Vietnam War

SAIGON (AP) — A lull continued across South Vietnam's battlefields today as Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, arrived from Washington to assess the four-week-old slowdown in the war.

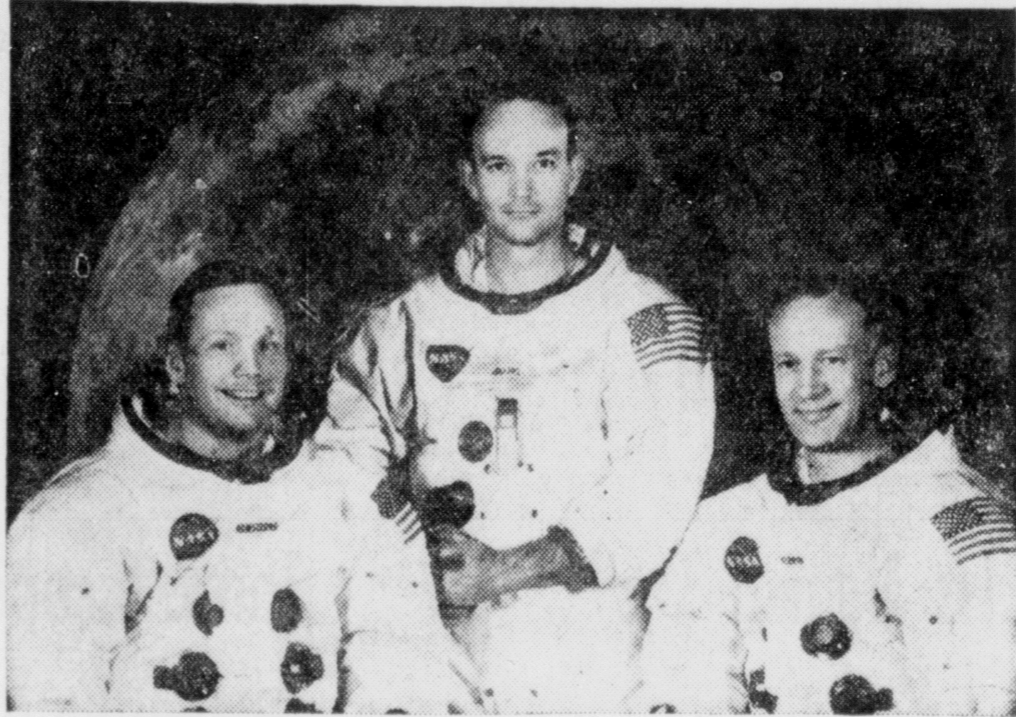

Wheeler came to Saigon for four days of conferences at U.S. headquarters and field locations, a command spokesman said. Adm. John S. McCain Jr., U.S. commander in chief in the Pacific, arrived shortly before Wheeler.

The U.S. Command reported 26 enemy shellings during the night and an ambush of an American truck convoy north of Saigon. One American was killed and nine were wounded in the shellings, and one was killed and six were wounded in the ambush, a spokesman said.

The command also reported the loss of an OH6 observation helicopter, downed by enemy ground fire Tuesday near Phuoc Vinh, 37 miles north of Saigon. One American was reported killed in the crash, and two were injured. The report raised the announced total of helicopters lost in the war to 2,851.

The chief topic of the talks was believed to be whether U.S. forces should reduce offensive operations because of the lull and what risks this would entail. They also were expected to discuss prospects for further troop withdrawals beyond the 25,000 Americans slated to leave the country by Aug. 31.

In Washington, Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Tuesday that U.S. forces are still under orders to maintain maximum battlefield pressure on the enemy. But under senatorial prodding, he said: "This whole matter is under review." This was taken in Washington to mean that the Nixon Administration is considering the possibility of scaling down U.S. offensive operations in response to the slack-off in enemy action.

MOON BOUND — Prime crewmen for Apollo 11, first Moon landing mission are, from right to left: Neil A. Armstrong, Commander; Michael Collins, Command Module Pilot; and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., Lunar Module Pilot. Armstrong will be the first man to set foot on the Moon. He and Aldrin will collect samples of the lunar surface, set out instruments, and then rejoin Collins, who will remain in the command module orbiting the Moon.

Antitrust Enforcers Cite 7 Drug Firms

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration, trying to lower spiraling drug prices through vigorous antitrust enforcement, has charged seven major drug firms with using a fraudulent patent to monopolize sales of a leading antibiotic.

The government, in a three-count civil suit, also demanded at least 25 million in damages — probably much more — from two of the companies, Charles Pfizer & Co. Inc. and American Cyanamid Co.

The action marked the second time in a week Justice Department antitrust enforcers moved against drug patents in a concerted drive for more competition in the industry.

In Tuesday's suit, filed in federal court here, Pfizer was accused of obtaining a fraudulent patent in 1955 on the drug tetracycline, the nation's largest selling broad spectrum antibiotic.

'Wonder Drugs'
Broad spectrum antibiotics are popularly known as "wonder drugs" for their ability to counteract and cure a broad range of illnesses and diseases.

The department claimed Pfizer got the tetracycline patent by withholding information and making "false and misleading statements" to the U.S. patent Office.

In doing so, the suit alleged, Pfizer gained support from Cyanamid, holder of a patent to Aureomycin, the first wonder drug marketed in this country. The government said Cyanamid made deceptive statements to back Pfizer's patent claim in exchange for a licensing arrangement that allowed the two firms to maintain holds on antibiotic sales.

In addition to Pfizer and Cyanamid, five other leading drug producers — Bristol-Myers Co., Olin-Mathieson Chemical Corp., Squibb Beech-Nut Inc., E. R. Squibb & Sons Inc. and the Upjohn Co.—were charged with conspiracy to monopolize the tetracycline trade.

That count stemmed, the government said, from licensing agreements under which Pfizer, Cyanamid and Bristol-Myers would manufacture the drug and all seven firms could sell it in dosage form.

The complaint also asked the court to cancel the Pfizer patent and prohibit the firm from collecting royalties on tetracycline.

An antitrust task force appointed by former President Lyndon B. Johnson recommended last year the government attack drug prices by challenging patent abuses.

Since taking office, the Nixon administration's antitrust chief, Asst. Atty. Gen. Richard W. McLaren, has taken the task force advice and directed probes of several licensing arrangements.

The tetracycline suit, involving a product with annual sales of well over $100 million, followed a complaint last week against Ciba Corp. and CPC International Inc., challenging restrictive licensing agreements on drugs known as benzothiadiazines, which are used as diuretics and antihypertensives.

Sales of the drugs total more than $53 million annually.

Responding to the latest government action, the Pfizer Co. labeled the suit "outrageous" and claimed it had obtained the tetracycline patent "in good faith."

San Salvador, El Salvador (AP) — Ignoring a call from the Organization of American States for a cease-fire, El Salvador pressed its invasion of Honduras today and demanded that the Honduran army "surrender before being defeated on the battleground."

Diplomatic sources in San Salvador said Salvadoran forces appeared to have penetrated as much as 20 miles inside Honduras. The Honduran government claimed that its troops "are fighting valiantly ... pushing back the enemy attack."

A seven-nation peace keeping committee dispatched by the OAS arrived in San Salvador Tuesday night to seek a cease-fire in the two-day-old war, but there was no immediate indication of success.

Two Columns
The Salvadoran government sources said the army was driving toward the Honduran capital of Tegucigalpa in two columns—one made up of tanks, artillery and motorized vehicles moving along the South Highway, and the other an infantry force marching through the mountains.

Third Stage Fires Trio Toward Moon

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — With the men and their ship working perfectly, America's Apollo 11 astronauts hurtled through space today on a voyage of the ages, the first attempt to land men on the moon.

Civilian commander Neil A. Armstrong, 38; Air Force Col. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., 39, and Air Force Lt. Col. Michael Collins, 38, continued a performance that had been flawless since launch. They delicately separated their command module from a spent booster and then linked with the moon lander, still housed in the booster.

The trio started their historic journey on a Saturn 5 rocket that thundered from Cape Kennedy right on schedule at 9:32 a. m. EDT and shot them into an orbit 118 miles high.

Two and one-half hours later, the still attached Saturn third stage fired again to hurl Apollo 11 out of earth's orbit and start it floating toward the moon.

Half an hour after this maneuver, the astronauts separated their command ship, pivoted around 180 degrees and gingerly poked its harpoon-like docking mechanism into a connecting device in the nose of the moon landing ship, or lunar module, cradled atop the third stage.

The two ships, locked nose to nose, streaked outward on the voyage of the ages toward their distant target.

After nearly an hour, the astronauts were to pull the lunar module (LM) out of its garage in the third stage and the spent rocket was to go into an orbit of the sun.

Columbuses
Barring problems, these three Columbuses of the Space Age are to sail outward across a quarter-million-mile ocean of space for three days and find themselves into orbit just 69 miles above the moon on Saturday.

They are to follow the trail blazed twice in the last seven months, by the pioneers of Apollo 8 and 10.

Sunday afternoon, Armstrong and "Buzz" Aldrin are to detach a lunar module and fly it down to a landing at the Sea of Tranquility. Early the next day they are to fulfill a centuries - old dream by walking on and exploring the lunar landscape.

Civil defense officials estimated more than a million persons, the largest crowd ever to witness a Cape Kennedy launching, cheered as the great rocket lifted away from earth.

Thousands had camped overnight on beaches and other vantage points. Roads were jammed early in the morning.

LBJ Watches
Among those who watched the start of the moon mission from Cape Kennedy were former President Lyndon B. Johnson, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and Armstrong's wife, Janet, and their two sons, Eric, 12, and Mark, 6.

Also watching the start of the moon mission were Armstrong's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Armstrong in Wapakoneta, Ohio.

Mrs. Armstrong told newsmen she talked to her son the morning before launch.

"He was happy," she said. "His usual self. Just like he always is."

As the astronaut's parents spoke, one of the spacemen in the capsule told Mission Control: "It sure is clear down there. It's like sitting in your living room."

Men Of Peace
The astronauts go to the moon as men of peace, bearing the flags and messages of many lands.

They may not make it. For Apollo 11 is not only man's most ambitious space adventure but also the most dangerous.

The astronauts and space officials warned in advance that the flight might have to be aborted at any time, even up to the moment of lunar touchdown.

And if the two astronauts do land, there is a remote chance they could be stranded on the moon, with only two days of oxygen and no chance of rescue.

The astronauts have chosen as their symbol the drawing of an eagle swooping to the cratered surface, its talons gripping an olive branch.

As is the manner of men, Armstrong and Aldrin will plant an American flag on the surface as a symbol of conquest. But they will not claim this territory for the United States. To make this clear they will leave behind a plaque bearing these words:

Gather Rocks
"Here men from the planet earth
First set foot upon the moon
July 1969 A.D.
"We came in peace for all mankind."

They are to gather precious rocks from this new world, deploy scientific instruments and determine how well man in a bulky space suit can operate in the unfamiliar one-sixth gravity field on the moon.

Armstrong and Aldrin are to spend about 2½ hours outside. In all they are to be on the moon less than a day.

But in that time they will have opened the limitless frontier of space a bit farther. The rocks they bring home may provide clues to the origin of the moon, the earth and even the solar system—and set the course for future expeditions to probe the universe beyond present imagination.

If all goes well, much of the world will watch the entire lunar surface activity beamed live via television from a camera the astronauts are to mount 30 feet away from their landing craft.

Ringside Seat
Television provided millions with a ringside seat for the blazing start of the momentous mission. Much of the world stood still as the 363-foot Saturn 5 roared into the sky.

The most powerful machine ever built sprayed the launch area with a dazzling sheet of flame as its five first-stage engines flashed to life and sent an unearthly howl rolling across the scrub and swamplands of the moonport.

The monster screamed on its pedestal for 8.9 seconds as a computer system made certain all engines ignited properly and built up full total thrust of 7.7 million pounds—equal to the power of more than 500 jet planes. When the computer sensed all was right, it commanded four 40,000-pound steel restraining arms to flip back to release the pulsating giant.

Gulping fuel at the rate of 15 tons a second, the rocket blazed into the heavens. Its millions of parts meshed, pulsed and interacted flawlessly and all three stages fired with precision to boost Apollo 11 to its first orbital plateau.

El Salvador Ignores Cease-Fire; Invades

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Ignoring a call from the Organization of American States for a cease-fire, El Salvador pressed its invasion of Honduras today and demanded that the Honduran army "surrender before being defeated on the battleground."

Diplomatic sources in San Salvador said Salvadoran forces appeared to have penetrated as much as 20 miles inside Honduras. The Honduran government claimed that its troops "are fighting valiantly ... pushing back the enemy attack."

A seven-nation peace keeping committee dispatched by the OAS arrived in San Salvador Tuesday night to seek a cease-fire in the two-day-old war, but there was no immediate indication of success.

Two Columns
The Salvadoran government sources said the army was driving toward the Honduran capital of Tegucigalpa in two columns—one made up of tanks, artillery and motorized vehicles moving along the South Highway, and the other an infantry force marching through the mountains.

Tegucigalpa is about 40 miles from the Honduras-El Salvador frontier, but nearly 75 miles by highway from El Amaitillo, where the armored column reportedly crossed the border.

The capitals of both countries were under curfew and blackout Tuesday night, but rain appeared to have temporarily halted air attacks by the World War II vintage planes of the two Central American republics.

Casualties Heavy
Twelve planes, eight of them Honduran, reportedly have been shot down.

Honduran medical personnel reported civilian and military casualties were heavy on both sides of the border, but no government casualty reports were available from either side.

Fighting was reported savage and often hand-to-hand along

Soviet Papers Ignore Apollo

MOSCOW (AP) — Moscow's morning newspapers today ignored the impending Apollo 11 flight to the moon.

Only the weekly Literaturnaya Gazeta (Literary Gazette), published today, made mention of Apollo 11. Its article was a reprint from a French magazine.

Silence also continued on Luna 15, the unmanned Soviet spaceship expected to reach the moon today or Thursday. Its specific mission has not been divulged, although some Soviet sources said it would attempt to scoop up a sample of moon soil and return it to earth.

More than 90-dozen eggs were hurled and smashed inside the Colonial Kitchen Restaurant last week. VanderBand said the youths entered the restaurant looking for money.

He said a footprint left at the restaurant helped lead to the youths.

In other business, the board placed on file the County Equalized Value report and a letter from the Department of Natural Resources requesting advice or comment on proposed deer hunting regulations.

The board passed a proposal favoring State Senator Joseph Mack's bill requesting a "swamp tax" increase.

The board sent a letter to Rep. Charles Varnum, the Highway Department and the Michigan State Police requesting advice on possible speed control signs or devices to be placed on U.S. 2 in the Kipling area.

Injuries Slow Explosion Probe
DETROIT (AP) — A Coast Guard investigation into the fatal explosion on a charter boat on the Detroit River last Saturday has been slowed because of the inability of some of the injured persons to testify.

"We have no intention of going in and bugging these people," said Lt. Comdr. Kenneth F. Franke of the Coast Guard's marine inspection division. "We don't want to interfere in any way with their recovery."

of junkers in a scrap metal yard "waiting" to be cubed and sold as scrap. Abandoned cars are an increasing problem in our affluent society. (Daily Press Photos)

Abandoned Cars Plaguing Escanaba Area, Country

By BOB GREGG

Abandoned and junked cars are a growing problem all over the country, and the Escanaba area is no exception.

So far, the situation has defied solution and it threatens to get worse, officials indicated.

"A derelict car hurts a community in countless ways," Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York said recently. "It's the worst kind of eyesore."

In Lindsay's view, the growing junk pile is a "symbol of an affluent society and a wasteful society — a society that is barely able to control its own environment."

"Junk cars have been a serious problem ever since the price of scrap metal dropped," said Escanaba police chief Richard Frederick.

"Junk yards and scrap metal firms no longer will take them," he added.

He's right.

Maynard Coplan, manager of Coplan's Iron & Metal Co., 1610 7th Ave. N., Escanaba, says he hasn't bought a junker for over three years.

"We won't even go out of our way to pick one up when it's offered free," he said.

Cars Dumped

They don't have to bother. People bring in their useless cars and dump them off on Coplan's property when the office is closed. There's almost no way to prevent it, and Coplan isn't happy about the situation.

"We're not anxious to get them as gifts. We don't need them," he said.

Coplan says taking junk cars isn't worth the trouble anymore. A change in steel-making methods that uses less scrap is a major contributor to the pile-up of junkers. Scrap metal from cars that brought $43 a ton in 1956 is worth only $20 now.

Several other factors are also behind the junk car explosion. More autos are on the road to wear out. Drivers are going farther and faster, thereby cutting the actual life of their car. Some experts feel that today's cars are being constructed to depreciate faster, forcing motorists to buy more cars.

Ordinance Passed

The high cost of insurance and car registration aggravate the problem. By the time a driver pays for his plates and insurance, he may wind up paying out more than the car is worth. The high cost of repairs and stricter safety standards many times make it cheaper to junk an old car and buy a new one.

Junk cars became such a nuisance a couple of years ago that local officials in Escanaba were forced to take action.

The Escanaba City Council passed an ordinance in 1967 forbidding dismantled or inoperable vehicles from remaining on any parcel of land within the city limits. The fine for violation of this ordinance carries a maximum of $100 fine or 90 days in jail or both.

The ordinance has helped, Escanaba police said. The number of junkers in Escanaba has been cut to an average of less than 50 a year.

County Problem

The ordinance does not apply to commercial or industrial areas, however, and police said that residents sometimes complain about autos stored at body shops.

Officers said smashed vehicles sometimes sit around for days until an insurance inspector gets around to examining them.

The County Sheriff's Department reports that the problem is even more serious in rural areas. Fewer persons see them to complain, and in many townships there are no laws against it.

Several solutions have been suggested but none so far have been successful. A Texas steel company recently built seven huge auto shredding machines, each capable of turning a half a million cars a year into neat blocks of scrap. The devices are operating in several areas of the country but at less than full capacity. The low price of scrap metal holds down the price the company can pay for old cars, making junk dealers less than anxious to sell them.

Pile Up Cars?

Several experts feel the easiest and cheapest answer is piling all unwanted cars into several huge junk yards across the country and asking federal aid to screen them from public view.

Past attempts at receiving federal aid were moderately successful and the Nixon Administration says it will seek funds for screened junk yards in the fiscal year 1971.

Honduran planes on Tuesday bombed the international airport outside San Salvador and a Standard Oil of New Jersey refinery 25 miles away. El Salvador admitted several gasoline storage tanks were hit, and the column of smoke could be seen in the capital.

The council of the OAS in Washington approved a resolution calling for the two nations to suspend hostilities and settle their differences peacefully. It asked the peacekeeping committee to report its findings and recommendations "in the shortest time circumstances may allow."

Safe Streets

The Upper Peninsula has joined the State of Michigan and the federal government in the "war on crime" under the crime control and safe street act of 1968.

Under that program, Michigan will receive $868,480 from Uncle Sam to be used in grants to local communities and areas to develop action programs for more effective law enforcement and criminal justice.

"This marks an extremely significant step as Michigan seeks to deal with crime at its numerous levels," said Gov. William Milliken.

The "numerous levels" of crime were defined in a 328-page report signed by Milliken and Louis Rome, executive director of the Michigan Commission on Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice.

"In Michigan, organized crime exists as a highly complicated and refined confederacy," the report says. "It is controlled by a relatively stable group of some 50 members, united and allied by familiar relationships, operating primarily in gambling, loan sharking, labor racketeering and narcotics. They are known to own more than 100 legitimate businesses and are believed to have infiltrated many more with hidden ownerships."

The report also says that in the spring of 1968 there were three separate murders committed for the purpose of enforcement of the loan sharking racket and that organized crime has progressed "to such a sophisticated degree that usual methods of police investigation, followed by the information system of investigating prosecution, are totally ineffective."

The program as defined in the voluminous report exists to a great degree in the metropolitan areas of the state and to a much lesser extent in the Upper Peninsula, but despite the relative peace and quiet of the U. P. there are problems that exist.

Howard Pierce of the Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Progress, which has been designated to coordinate law enforcement planning activities in the Upper Peninsula by the Michigan Commission on Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice, points out that a study to inventory U. P. law enforcement needs is presently underway by police officers, judges and prosecuting attorneys.

Upper Peninsula projects likely will be prepared from a list of priorities developed from the inventory, but one proposal already has been submitted in an effort to qualify for funds this year. That proposal would provide for police training of three types at Northern Michigan University — basic police training for new or inexperienced officers; command officer training for supervisory personnel, and training for juvenile officers.

The need for training policemen in the U. P. is generally regarded as the top priority, Pierce indicated.

Beyond the need for well-trained police officers, Pierce said that a list of priorities for the Peninsula would include a juvenile detention facility, a crime laboratory and funds to finance local probation departments. There also would be individual needs from local police departments.

The juvenile detention facility has been a project of Probate Judge Michael DeFaut of Marquette for quite a few years. District Judge Dean Shipman of Escanaba has been pushing for a probation department for his court, but Delta County isn't the only county with that need. The crime lab would save U. P. officers the time now required to take evidence to Lansing for analysis.

It is not expected that much of the $868,000 appropriated to Michigan will find its way to the Upper Peninsula this year because of the problems in Detroit, but it is good that U. P. law officers are thinking of the future.

There are things that can be done. Maybe by working on them now when the problems aren't so severe the mole hill won't grow into a mountain.

The New Isolation

Dean Acheson, secretary of State under President Truman, has spoken out against the growing trend among the doves to opt for a policy of neo-isolationism which would ignore the challenges of aggressive totalitarianism, particularly in Asia.

In effect, if not intent, what Sens. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.), Edward M. Kennedy (D-Mass.), and Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.), and their allies demand is that the United States retreat from freedom's outposts and return to the America-first policy of the 1930s. They camouflage their policy of withdrawal with professed concern for the plight of America's urban areas. They argue that the U. S. is overextended needlessly and if we cut back our commitments in the Pacific and reduce our military expenditures, the country will have more funds to expend on better housing, education, etc.

In Acheson's opinion there is "no basis for the notion that we tend to overdo the military aspects. To the contrary, the nation repeatedly has neglected to provide a military basis to match its policy or to cope with aggressive forces. We tried unilateral arms reduction in the interwar period. We got Pearl Harbor. We reverted to habit after World War II. We got the Korean War."

The former secretary warns that "from here on, as far ahead as one can imagine, the nation will continuously be in the front line, and coping with adversary forces will be an unrelenting requirement . . . We shall be involved in confrontation (with the Communists) into an indefinite future."

The need then, to maintain arms superiority and international involvement is not a figment of the imagination of the Pentagon and arms suppliers, but a necessary response to Communist aggressions.

Doves Are Ganging Up On 'Hawkish' Senator

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Only a few months ago Democratic Sen. Henry (Scoop) Jackson of Washington could have had the post of Secretary of Defense simply by telling Richard M. Nixon that he was interested. He preferred, however, to stay in the Senate.

Now, because he is a fervent supporter of the ABM and preparedness in general, the ultra-liberals in his own party are out for his scalp, threatening to run a "unilateral disarmament" man in the 1970 State of Washington primary against him.

Jackson is a realist when it comes to Soviet Russia. This, in the eyes of the organization called the Washington Democratic Council, is a grievous sin.

At a meeting in Seattle in early June the Council chastised Jackson for encouraging a "fearful mood of Cold War confrontation." Members of the Washington State group who were for Sen. Eugene McCarthy for President in 1968 are trying to raise a "defeat Jackson" kitty of some $500,000, half of it to be obtained outside the State, and are now combing the hinterland for a "visible Democrat" to run against Jackson on a platform that will call for dismantling our atomic installations and taking our Polaris submarines off the sea.

This is far-out stuff, but the sobering thing is that powerful people are cooperating in the anti-Jackson drive. The New Democratic Coalition, whose steering committee is co-chaired by Don Peterson, head of the pro-McCarthy Wisconsin delegation to the 1968 Democratic Chicago convention, and Paul Schrade, the Los Angeles representative of Walter Reuther's United Automobile Workers, is part of the anti-Jackson front. And Sen. George McGovern, the South Dakota dove who has undertaken to raise money for the re-election of Democratic Senators in 1970, obligingly dropped Jackson's name from a list of Democrats who are certified to be in need of campaign help.

No doubt Jackson, who has a distinguished record as Chairman of the Senate Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs and as head of important subcommittees on armed services, government operations and atomic energy, will be able to take the 1970 primary in his stride. (Assuming, of course, that the Boeing workers in his State are still employed in 1970.) The cabal of the doves to eliminate him from the Senate is chiefly interesting because it is a prime exhibition of the monomaniacal character of modern ultra-liberalism.

It used to be that if a man were "liberal" on some things, allowances would be made for him if he did not go down the accredited liberal line on every subject. It so happens that Scoop Jackson is one of the nation's leading conservationists. He shaped the bills that were responsible for the creation of the Indiana Dunes Park and the Redwoods National Park, and he was the moving spirit behind the million-acre Cascades National Park.

At any other time in our history this would have been enough to keep the liberals off Jackson's back. The liberals of such organizations as the Sierra Club ought to be in there pitching for Jackson, trying to call off the vindictive scalp artists of the New Democratic Coalition and Walter Reuther's West Coast men. But the idea of judging a man on balance seems no longer to be part of the liberal doctrine.

Jackson's logic is that it won't help to conserve America's natural beauties such as the Indiana Dunes and the Cascades National Park unless one is prepared to defend the nation that possesses such wonders. Even as in Theodore Roosevelt's day, conservation and patriotism still go together.

When Admiral Rickover was fighting for the atomic submarine Jackson upheld the program that gave us our Polaris force which is capable of aiming missiles at the heart of the Soviet Union from the bottom of the sea. Now the anti-Jacksonians who are against the anti-ballistic missile use the Polaris to prove that the ABM is unnecessary. But Jackson takes seriously Admiral Rickover's warning that, by the mid-seventies, the Soviets may have found a way of tracking down the Polaris submarines and destroying them in mid-ocean.

Rickover has written to Jackson that "even as in 1907 it was impossible to predict how long the battleship would remain 'invincible,' so it is today impossible to predict how long the Polaris submarine will remain invulnerable." The ABM, says Rickover, is insurance against the obsolescence of the Polaris. Jackson agrees.

It beats him, as it beats others who have a sense of logic, that the neo-isolationists, who should welcome anything that might help in keeping war far from our shores, are so adamant against the ABM. And when those same neo-isolationists make the ABM the sole test of one's liberal orthodoxy, it leaves Scoop Jackson wondering about human nature.

Liberalize Laws On Snowmobiles

LANSING (AP) — Snowmobiles, branded by some as winter's hotrods but viewed by others as a wholesome new recreational industry, have staunch support in the Michigan Legislature.

The House Tuesday approved two Senate measures further liberalizing the state laws governing operation of the gasoline - engine, tread - driven vehicles that combine elements of skis and sleds.

One measure allows snowmobiling without a state permit in Porcupine Mountain State Park, located west of Ontonagon in Michigan's Upper Peninsula. The other would exempt from local registration requirements any snowmobiles used in sanctioned, local races.

Sen. Joseph Mack, D-Iron, introduced the bill creating the loophole in regulations from all but a few restricted areas in state parks. He joined

The bidding:
South West North East
1♥ Pass 1♠ Pass
2♣ Pass 3♣ Pass
3♥ Pass 4♥

Opening lead — four of diamonds.

Let's say you're East defending against four hearts reached on the bidding shown. West leads a diamond which you win with the ace, and you return a diamond which West wins with the king. Your partner continues with the jack and South ruffs.

Declarer leads a low heart to dummy's jack, and it is at this point that the outcome of the hand hangs in the balance.

If you win with the ace, declarer makes the contract; if you duck, he goes down.

Let's assume you take the jack with the ace, as most players would. If you return a diamond, declarer ruffs in dummy, draws trumps, and easily makes the rest of the tricks. If you return anything else, declarer again has no trouble making the rest of the tricks.

Now let's assume you duck the jack of hearts, as you should. What can declarer do now to bring home the contract?

Absolutely nothing. If he leads another trump, you win with the ace and fire another diamond at him. If he ruffs, he will have only one trump left to West's two and must eventually go down one. If he discards on the fourth round of diamonds, you take the setting trick that much sooner.

How can you tell that ducking the jack of hearts is the right play? Well, you can't be 100 per cent sure the duck will beat the contract, but all the evidence points that way.

The clue lies in the bidding. South is very unlikely to have six hearts because he would probably have rebid the suit at the first opportunity instead of raising his partner's clubs right away.

Once you credit South with only five hearts — which means that West started with four of them — you are certain to beat the contract by refusing to take dummy's jack.

Father Is Smoking Himself To Death

Dear Ann Landers: I cried when I read that letter from the boy whose mother is smoking herself to death. I am a girl 23 and my father is doing the same thing.

Ten years ago Dad got emphysema. He wasn't able to participate in any family activities because he couldn't catch his breath if he had to walk more than a block. He was always on the sidelines. He couldn't dance at weddings or even stand in a receiving line for more than 10 minutes. By 10:00 P. M. he was pooped. I remember Mom rushing him to the hospital at least a dozen times. He'd be blue in the face and have to be put in an oxygen tent. Through all this he still smoked two packs of cigarettes a day even though he knew it was killing him.

Six weeks ago Dad was operated on for lung cancer and now he is dying. He won't be here to walk me down the aisle when I marry in September. He won't have the joy of seeing my children grow up. He is only 50 years old, Ann, - - - awfully young to die when you have so much to live for. It's too late for my dad, but I hope someone else's dad will see this and learn something—His Daughter

Dear Daughter: I hope so, too, dear. Thanks for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: Please rush this information. We need it right away. In what states can a girl, 15, get married? Can her parents have the marriage annulled if she lies and says she is older? What states will allow a man of 18 to get married? Do they ask at the license bureau if the man has a job? Can he be put in jail if the girl is not of legal age?

Nobody is pregnant so don't quote any laws about that jazz. And don't give me any advice. We know what we want to do. Just hurry up with the answers.—Him and Her

Dear H and H: I am typing as fast as I can, your Lord and Ladyship, and I hope this letter gets to you in time. It gives me great pleasure to inform you that in your state, (Illinois), your girl friend is not old enough to marry without parental consent.

As for the other questions, see a lawyer. If you don't know a lawyer, get acquainted with one because from the sound of your letter you'll be needing legal advice before long.

Dear Ann: My husband is a printer at the paper that carries your column, so please don't publish my name or initials. He works from 4 P. M. to midnight and I believe he is involved with a woman who works the same shift. This woman pays my husband $2.00 a day to drive her to work and back. I told him I'd take a $10.00 weekly cut in allowance if he'd stop driving her. He says I'm foolish and that I have no self-respect. According to him a woman insults both herself and her husband when she shows so little confidence in him. What do you say?—Printer's Wife

Dear Wife: I say you are fighting a losing battle and using the wrong ammunition. Turn on the heat and knock off the accusations or you will have real trouble instead of just suspicions.

Drinking may be "in" to the kids you run with—but it can put you "out" for keeps. You can cool it and stay popular. Read "Booze and You — For Teen-Agers Only." Send 35c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Delinquency Grant

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken reports Michigan has received a $49,588 planning grant from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare for combating juvenile delinquency. The governor said the planning funds will be administered by his executive office of planning coordination. He said the office will work with the Michigan Commission on Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice and various state departments with juvenile delinquency responsibilities.

Last Train Closes Railroad Era

By JEAN WORTH
Of Panax Newspapers

GREEN BAY, Wis. — No one is riding the Peninsula "400" today. It made its last trip Tuesday and a few mourners got aboard at most of the stops between Ishpeming and here to have a last ride for old time's sake.

The "400" was the last passenger train in the Upper Peninsula.

Its passing closes an era in which trains were the chief means of getting about. Riding the "400" from Escanaba to Milwaukee on her last run was Edward W. Powers, 612 S. 12th St., Escanaba, who retired in 1948 as a conductor on the "400" after 46 years of employment by the North Western on its Peninsula Division.

"In 1902," he said, "we had 208 trains on the time card. Every train was numbered and it ran every day in the ore season. If W. B. Lindsley (former superintendent of the Peninsula Division) could see what's happened to railroading he'd turn over in his grave."

Bus Service Starts

What's happened to railroading is what happened to the canal boats and the lake vessels earlier. The railroads took away their business. Now the trucks and buses on the highways and especially the private automobiles have cut into the railroads' freight and passenger service. And the airlines have completed the coup in passenger business except for railroad commuter trains in the metropolitan areas, and for a few lingering prestige trains. A Greyhound bus service took over the North Western's passenger traffic north of Green Bay today. There's been such a service for years and now a new bus has been rescheduled to tie in more closely with train termination at the new railroad of the North Western in Green Bay.

It is 98 years, since the North

Railroad Ends Bar Car Service

CHICAGO — Passengers Chicago & North Western trains between Green Bay, Wis., and Chicago have hoisted their glasses for the last time.

The bar car has been discontinued, railroad officials said, because the run is losing money. The evening train out of Chicago and the morning train out of Green Bay are being operated at a loss of $160,000 a year, officials said, and the bar car is responsible for $50,000 of the loss.

Western built its tracks north to the Menominee River, where the Upper Peninsula begins, and 97 years since it ran its first passenger train in the U. P. It had started train service earlier — on the Peninsular Railroad from Negaunee to Escanaba in 1864 — and when the C&NW tracks were extended north to Escanaba in 1872 the Peninsula Railroad became a part of the North Western. (It was built to haul ore from the Jackson Mine to Escanaba.)

Back To Ore Pool

The demise of the Upper Peninsula's last passenger train indicates that we are in a new era — not only of transportation, but also of sophistication. The railroad asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to end passenger service north of Green Bay and there was only token opposition.

The public reaction clearly was: What's the use of protesting? And yet such protests were routine a few years ago. Now the inevitable is accepted.

B. C. Anderson of 1114 11th Ave. S., Escanaba, was the conductor on the last "400." He disliked to see the train die, of course, but he said that it had consisted of as little as the diesel locomotive and one coach in the past year. The newest passengers he remembered on any one run between Ishpeming and Green Bay was 26.

Anderson has been a North Western railroader for 27 years, his trainman, John Rudden, 1518 Stephenson Ave., Escanaba, for 21 years. They'll go to freight trains now, putting aside their white shirts.

Arthur Gagnier, 613 S. 16th St., Escanaba, was the engineer on the last run. He's been with the North Western for 27 years, and it's back to the ore pool now for him and his fireman, Joseph Lippens of Bark River.

Future Rosy One

When the North Western built its tracks north through Wisconsin and into the Upper Peninsula of Michigan nearly a century ago the future was rosy and no one could foresee the end of passenger traffic before the 100th birthday of the line. The forest stood to the edge of the right-of-way, awaiting harvest; there was charcoal to be made from the hardwoods to melt iron from the Upper Peninsula ranges; timber for the saws, land to be cleared for farms.

The North Western got government land grants. It was to be the great developer. And it was. Towns sprang up along the tracks as the mills were built and the forests logged and the farms cleared. Every spring there were "mountains" of cedar along the track.

The first feeble roads paralleled the railroad tracks. As the roads were improved with tax money (something never offered to the railroads) the towns along the North Western turned their backs on the railroad tracks and faced their new growth on the highway. That was where the action was.

The railroad didn't die, but it certainly underwent a sea of change. It became the long haul, heavy haul system — iron ore, pulpwood, petroleum products, chemicals, lumber, logs.

Highways Improve

As the Upper Peninsula's economy changed — and especially its transportation habits with the improvement of highways and motorcars and with American preference for drive-it-yourself — the trains started dying.

The North Western tried resuscitation in 1942 with introduction of the Peninsula "400" with its oscillating headlight, diesel locomotive and high speed. The transfusion was helpful, but it came in the Motor Age.

Like the "29 bottles hanging on the wall," finally the U. P. was down to one train, and now there is none. There wasn't a foot of high grade railroad track west of Buffalo, N. Y., in 1848, but nine years later there were 13 railroads operating into and out of Chicago—all wood burners. The North Western was organized about 1859 with 91 miles of track to Janesville, Wis., and a short line to Fond du Lac, Wis.

It took over a decade to get its tracks here to Green Bay. Now they end here as far as passenger service is concerned and Edward Powers, the old conductor from the "400" says unhappily, "Green Bay will only last another year or two."

Newspaper Want Ads are a big sell! One billion, twenty-one million were spent on classified ads last year . . . more than for all magazine advertising combined and more than 200 million more than radio advertising.

Terry's motorbike, but more particularly for the last ride.

Edward Powers, 612 S. 12th St., who retired as a "400" conductor years ago, was going to Milwaukee. He recalled incidents of his 46 years with the North Western, including the occasion when a logging camp cook at Northland made a train just one jump ahead of the camp crew, which was going to hang him for his atrocious cooking.

Couplings Jerk

Those were the days! The North Western had 28 blacksmiths and 28 blacksmiths' helpers working in Escanaba on engine repair.

Howard Marks of The Paper for Central Wisconsin, published at Oshkosh, saying "Escanaba's railroad station is disgraceful." Well, the station-master had become a sexton.

The train is underway and people who hadn't ridden a railroad train for years — and many aboard hadn't — are reminded of the ways the couplings jerk and rattle. And the hobbyhorse ride. Timber is growing up along the tracks again, like it was when the passenger service started, but not such big, old timber. And different trees; more aspen, less cedar.

The train whistles the crossings — maybe especially long this last morning of a lifetime. A postcard is passed at Pine Ridge. Over the Ford River, which once floated pine logs down to the Ford River Lumber Co. mill on Green Bay.

Past the potato warehouse at Hyde and a jalopy graveyard. Charcoal kilns recall a dead industry that once made business for the railroad. Thousands who pass on US-2 have forgotten what this stretch looks like from a train window. Whistle for the Schaffer Road crossing and pool cars standing there.

No Horses Now

Henry Boyle comes aboard at Bark River with his granddaughters. They'll have something to tell their grandchildren: "Granny rode the last passenger train in the Upper Peninsula." But Peter Zimmer, the North Central Airlines agent at Escanaba, who's aboard, thinks the trains will be back.

Mack's mill in the town that Michael Harris built. They named the township for him. The barns are disappearing from the farms. Drumlins. This is Billy Kell country but no horses showing on the hills, now that Billy is gone.

It's 6:05 and people aren't up yet. Strings of empty ore cars on sidings. Corriveau's market at Wilson and the little white Episcopal Church which has a memorial tab on almost everything but the chimney; all gifts of parishioners. Hilltop farmhouse. And the "400" whistles into Powers-Spalding and past St. Francis Xavier Church, with its bobbed steeple. Never would have thought of building it that way when churches had to have a steeple pointing toward heaven. Pine Timber Co.'s yard full of lumber. The conductor calls "Powers!" Named for George Powers of the North Western, and Spalding for Jesse Spalding who built a sawmill there after the North Western line went through in 1872.

Six More Board

Pinecrest Medicare Facility, which started in the 1920's as a TB sanatorium. Six board the train here and one notices the sign in the coach: "Notice of Proposed Discontinuance of Service." Persons desiring to object can notify the ICC in Washington.

A dairy barn without a hay-mow and chopper wagons in a field. Farming does change; but not enough. More drumlins and pine plantations where the dream of dairying has expired. The old road that was on the wrong side of the tracks when they eventually decided to have it on one side all the way. No stops at Nadeau, nor Carney nor Daggett. The trains used to stop in these towns once upon a time. Several persons board at Stephenson.

Dr. Edward Sawbridge told a story about going through Ingalls on the North Western while he was suffering an attack of Meniere's disease, which affects the middle ear and destroys balance. Ingalls had been pressing the North Western to replace its boxcar depot with something befitting the dignity of a growing hamlet. As the train approached the town it seemed to the afflicted physician to be seersawing wildly across the landscape and he told a companion: "It looks as though Ingalls is going to get rid of its old depot right now!"

Along Old Road

The railroad runs alongside the old Bay de Noc Road north of Menominee, the first overland route north. Sheriff Ed Reindl sitting in his Cadillac at the station. Fifty Head Start children board the train for a ride to Oconto, Wis., and a school bus ride home. The Milwaukee Road bridge over the Menominee River is being razed. Past Menominee's "Frenchtown" whose "Mayor" Joe Bilodeau opposed the interstate bridge angled across the river as "the first bridge I ever seen built up and down the river." (It's offense was that it bypassed Frenchtown.)

More than 30 board at Marinette and news cameramen are awake and snapping. Highway sign: "Green Bay 51 miles." Deer bound across a field. Lombardy poplars among the elms. Peshtigo: where the construction crews building the North Western were accused of setting the fire that destroyed the town with a loss of life estimated from 800 to 1,200. A tiny cemetery in the corner of a field. (There's a grave beside the C&NW tracks near Stager.)

Cameras Click

Going into Oconto (making 300 years and harking back to Father Allouez) a truck passes the train. "What does the '400' average in speed?" Conductor Anderson is asked. "Fifty-five miles an hour from Ishpeming to Escanaba, 35 mph from Narenta (Hyde) to Powers-Spalding and 55 from there to Green Bay," he says.

It's 7:45 in Oconto and a woman is on her lawn in pajamas. The train stops across from the "The '400' Bar. Movie cameras clicking. "Green Bay will be next." No stops at Little Suamico or Big Suamico, Harvey Falk of Menominee says: "With the '400' gone what's going to wake me up?"

CONDUCTOR B. C. ANDERSON, 1114 11th Ave. S., Escanaba, congratulates Edward W. Powers of 612 S. 12th St., Escanaba, on the last trip of the last passenger train on the Chicago & North Western Railway in the Upper Peninsula on Tuesday. Powers retired as a conductor on the Peninsula "400" in 1948 after 46 years on the Peninsula Division of the C&NW. He rode the "400" to Milwaukee on its last trip. Behind them is John Rudden, 1518 Stephenson Ave., Escanaba, trainman.

Cost Extra $4,000

City Employees OK Contract

The new contract ratified by city employees Monday night will cost the city approximately $4,000 over a budgeted allocation in the 1969 city budget, city manager, Robert Noe estimated.

Approximately $6,000 was included in the 1969 budget, adopted effective July 1, to cover wage increases. The package accepted by city employees will cost the city about $400 per man or close to $10,000. There are 25 unionized city employees who belong to Local 1196, members of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Workers.

Noe said he was satisfied the employees have a good contract and that the city didn't go overboard in reaching a settlement.

There are five non-union employees who work at city hall and some wage adjustments must be made for these people which would involve a probable $2,000 additional outlay, Noe said.

Some outbacks must be made in existing programs to cover the $6,000 additional cost to the city in wage increases.

The new contract is for a two-year period and non-negotiable until its expiration on June 30, 1971.

Under the agreement, employees will receive fully paid hospitalization benefits for their dependents; an additional one-half day holiday pay, raising the paid annual holidays to seven and one-half days; and effective June 1, 1970, four weeks

Recreation Plan Under Study

A comprehensive recreation development plan was discussed by the City Recreation Commission at a meeting recently. Plans call for development of areas at Central Park, the Fair Grounds and west side city sites.

The long-range plans would include four tennis courts, including two lighted courts; a golf driving range; a three-hole putting area; a multi-utility field; a pee-wee diamond; archery; scenic walk; oval snowmobile trail; toboggan slide; portable sanitary facilities; handball court; colorful quarry fountain; combination shelter-bath-change and storage building; horseshoe courts; sandboxes; quoits and a portable stage.

Also discussed was the possibility of a swimming pool or quarry development for bathing.

Before adjourning, the summer recreation program was reviewed and supplemented.

School Finance To Be Reviewed

The Manistique Area Board of Education will hold a public meeting tonight with a representative of the accounting firm of Ernst & Ernst of Marquette.

Originally, tonight's meeting had been scheduled as a private caucus between the Area Board and the accounting firm to discuss a cost estimate for auditing school books. However, Leon Wood, who won election to the Board of Education in June, insisted any discussions pertaining to school finance be open to the public.

Accordingly, President Denton Nelson has invited anyone with questions concerning school finance procedures and methods to pose the questions at the open meeting.

Wood indicated Tuesday night that he is attempting to form a study committee on school finance and would contact representatives of various school units for membership on the study committee.

He said he intends to invite one member from the school administration, the local Michigan Education Association, auxiliary employees and the board itself. He said he would serve on the committee as a representative of the Schoolcraft County Fact Finding Committee on School Finance, of which he is chairman.

The meeting will begin at 8:30 p. m. in Room 105 of the central school.

House Sets Marathon Final Summer Session

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan House today scheduled a final marathon session before adjourning for a 1½-month summer vacation.

As leaders outlined an open-ended session that could continue past midnight into early Thursday, several wide-ranging bills joined Gov. William Milliken's $1.534 billion budget on the unfinished business pile.

Both chambers were still faced with bills calling for elimination of the controversial, one-man grand jury and expansion of the powers of a citizen, grand jury panel.

A Senate bill proposing to increase the current $1.25-per-hour state minimum wage continued to hang fire in the House, possibly to be put off until fall.

Van Putten Made Fair's Marshall

IONIA (AP) — Spec. 5 Thomas Van Putten, the 21-year-old Caledonia soldier who escaped from the Viet Cong in April after 14 months of captivity, will be honorary grand marshal of the Ionia Free Fair's Aug. 4 inaugural parade.

Van Putten was plucked from the jungles just outside Saigon by a U.S. helicopter 18 days after his escape.

Honor Apollo By Flying Flag

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mayor Joseph Alioto Tuesday urged all San Franciscans to fly the Stars and Stripes day and night from the moment of the Apollo 11 blastoff today until the moon explorers return to earth.

Then, at splashdown, he urged that every bell, siren and whistle in the city be sounded. Asked about the propriety of flying the flag at night, Hadley Roff, the mayor's press secretary, said, "The Star Spangled Banner was written when the flag was being flown at night."

PROUD OWNERS, Gordon Salvitti (left) and Jerry Evans, sit in their cherry red dune buggy after completing the first half of a 12,000 mile journey.

On To Miami In A 'Dune Buggy'

By SALLY BARRETT

"Miami, here we come!", is the destination of Jerry Evans, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Evans of Soo Hill, and Gordon Salvitti, 23, students at Diablo Valley College in Concord, Calif.

On June 26, they left Concord in their homemade cherry red dune buggy with the psychedelic convertible top and arrived in Escanaba at 1 a. m., Sunday. This is the end of their first lap of a 12,000 mile tour of the United States.

Originally, Evans and Salvitti intended to tour the country on motorcycles but decided against it for "safety sake."

Rather, they decided to construct a dune buggy, a popular vehicle on the West Coast. Many are made from kits but this one is a conglomeration of parts that could never be found in one kit. The guys wrecked a Volkswagen for parts and used a molded fiberglass body. It took six weeks to build and cost approximately $1,400.

"Most buggies are built for off the road use, but this one is for both on and off," Evans said. "In Oregon we took it over the sand and came right up on the Columbia River overlooking a beautiful view."

When asked if they had any problems coming from California, Evans said, "Yes, right outside of Concord the brake line broke, but we had built the buggy with a dual braking system in case this would ever happen." Other than that, no complications.

Before arriving in Escanaba, the vagabonds made stops at Portland, Seattle, Vancouver, Victoria and Calgary. After leaving here Thursday, they plan to travel to Montreal in hopes of seeing any remains of "Expo," the world's fair.

From Montreal they intend to make intermittent stops at all the big-name cities en route to Miami.

After a week of "sun and fun" the travelers will separate. Salvitti plans to return to his home in Philadelphia and attend school out East this year. Evans will make his way back to California, after picking up another "buggy-buddy" in Florida, in time for school in September.

What are their plans for next summer?

"Well, Gordon and I had thought about going to Australia. Some people have even suggested that we take the dune buggy around the world," Evans answered.

Not a bad idea when you think it only costs $3 to fill up the buggy with gas, and it can go over 200 miles on a tank. Anyone just happen to have $1,400 lying around?

Church Events

St. Paul's Lutheran Church
The Ladies Aid of St. Paul's Lutheran Church will hold a picnic lunch at Pioneer Trail Park Thursday at 12:30 p.m. In case of inclement weather the picnic will be held at the church.

First Lutheran Church
A potluck dinner will be held at First Lutheran Church at 6:30 p.m. Thursday to inform the people of the Debt Reduction Drive. Ralph Peterson, of Escanaba, will be the speaker.

Elliott Named To State Post

LANSING (AP)—Secretary of State James Hare has named Walter C. Elliott of Detroit as chief assistant secretary of state.

Elliott joined the Department of State in 1961 as Detroit branch manager and was named assistant secretary of state for urban affairs in 1966.

He is a member of the Democratic State Central Committee. Hare said Elliott will be the department's policy executive for Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Genesee, Livingston and Washtenaw counties.

Hare said the appointment was in line with his policy of placing "strong renewed emphasis on helping solve the problems of urban Michigan."

"Jobs are important," Hare said. "We have always tried to work in the employment of non-whites. Several are in supervisory capacities with our department."

Boy's Overnight Coming July 22

The Gladstone-Rapid River Boys Overnight camp-out will be held Tuesday at Twin Springs Park. Those planning to attend may pick up their permission slips at the recreation building in Gladstone or from Dennis Stenah, Rapid River recreation director.

The boys will leave Gladstone at 10 a.m. on Tuesday and return Wednesday after a day and a night of swimming, water baseball, cookouts, snipe hunting, horseshoeing, scouping water skiing and maybe a small amount of sleeping.

Food for lunch, supper and breakfast should be packed along with the regular gear for overnight camping.

Other recreation department activities for the week include the comic exchange Wednesday from 2 to 3 p.m. at the recreation building and the Teen Dance Thursday at the school cafeteria from 9 to 11 p.m.

Elm Disease Hits City Tree

The first case of Dutch Elm disease in Gladstone has been found in a tree at the Robert Adams home, 807 Michigan Ave.

A representative from the Michigan Department of Agriculture checked the tree on the request of City Manager H. J. Henrikson and has recommended that the tree be removed from the premises and burned.

In discussing the situation at the City Commission meeting Monday night, acting City Attorney Robert DeGrand said that care should be exercised in the use of a pesticide in attempting to treat diseased trees as DDT sprays are not permitted in Michigan.

Henrikson said the city would remove affected trees if they are on the boulevards but if they are on private property the city would remove the tree and charge the property owner for the cost of removal.

Hog Cholera Infects Herd

LANSING (AP) — An outbreak of hog cholera in southwestern Lower Michigan that could threaten the state's $42 million swine industry is reported by the State Agriculture Department.

Dr. George Whitehead, deputy director for consumer protection, said it is hoped immediate action and stringent quarantine methods will confine the disease to the one farm, near Jones, now affected.

The disease was spotted by Dr. Fred Aronson, Three Rivers veterinarian, and confirmed by department diagnosticians.

Whitehead said the farmer will lose his entire herd of 800 hogs, slaughtered Tuesday to prevent the disease from spreading.

The owner will be paid an indemnity, now figured at approximately $61,000, because the government is depriving him of his property by the action.

"There is no known cure for the disease and the only course of action is to slaughter the infected and exposed swine and completely disinfect the premises," Whitehead said.

He said the highly infectious disease is not transmissible to humans but can be carried by farm workers to other premises.

Assistant State Veterinarian Dr. Charles Cole said the hog cholera has an incubation period of one to two weeks.

He said preliminary indications were that the outbreak originated in Missouri.

Duke To Sing

NEW YORK (AP) — Musician Duke Ellington says he is going to start and end his singing career with a self-composed song inspired by the forthcoming flight of Apollo 11. It's entitled "Moon Maiden."

Recorded by the 70-year-old bandleader here Monday, the song will be broadcast for the first time at 10 p.m. Sunday, when astronauts Edwin Aldrin and Neil Armstrong are expected to be resting on the lunar surface.

"It's a one-shot thing," Ellington said. "This is the end of my singing career."

An Ellington observation on the Apollo 11 moonshot itself: "I hope they will come back and say it's a very nice place to spend the summer."

Apollo Families Begin Space Vigil

SPACE CENTER, Houston — (AP) — Nothing ever prepared a wife for a time such as this.

Not Jan Armstrong, who understood that "Neil wanted to devote his life to what he's doing now."

Not Joan Aldrin, who learned on the amateur stage to lose her own identity.

Not Pat Collins, who she promised, like women the world over, "to have and to hold from this day forward..."

They have lived with it for years, this fantasy that one day man will go the moon. This was the day. The men were their men.

Astronaut homes cluster around the Lakeland area near the space center. In those homes, half a hundred wives know what Jan and Joan and Pat are going through.

Feel Fine

But not quite like the wives of the Apollo 11 crew. Nothing ever prepared a wife for a time such as this.

"I feel fine about it," said Mrs. Collins on the day before. "Everything seems to be going just fine."

They always say such things to newsmen on the day before. But the lights and the television sets go on early in the space-made communities of Nassau Bay and Seabrook and Clear Lake and El Lago.

And as an electronic clock 1,040 miles away at Cape Kennedy, Fla., strangely counts backward to zero, there suddenly are no kids on the street and no housewives going for the paper or a street chat, and newsmen wait outside three homes to hear what the wives have to say when the clock starts going forward and everything is well.

The Beginning

Jan and Joan and Pat all have gone through it before. But nothing ever prepared a wife for a time such as this.

"Gemini was the end of something," said Joan Aldrin, whose "Buzz" was on the last flight of that series and left his spacecraft for 5½ hours, establishing a record. "This flight," she added, "is the beginning."

And, if having her man waiting to go to the moon wasn't enough, Joan Collins had to worry last night about a tree in their front yard that was toppled by a storm. It was all right, though. Nobody was hurt.

Wives being wives and today being an important occasion, and Pat and Joan went Tuesday to have their hair done. Jan Armstrong, whose husband is to be the first man on the moon, was the only wife who went to Cape Kennedy to see her man off. No comment, she said through a space agency spokesman.

Children Along

Mrs. Armstrong took 12-year-old Eric and 6-year-old Mark along. Joan Aldrin commented that

Astronauts Wear Michigan Fabric

CHARLEVOIX (AP) — When the two American astronauts step onto the moon in a few days, they will be wearing a fabric product of northern Michigan.

The astronauts' suits were made from materials prepared by Hoskins Manufacturing, a small plant south of Charlevoix. According to the plant their sons, 13-year-old Michael and 11-year-old Andrew, and daughter Janice, who will be 12 next month, are becoming aware of the meaning of this flight.

The Collins children, 10-year-old Kate, 7-year-old Ann and 6-year-old Mike, probably aren't at that stage yet.

Their fathers are going to the moon.

Nothing ever prepared a wife for a time such as this.

manager John Lockwood, the product is known as chromalar, an alloy of nickel and chromium that is spun into metal yarn.

The product was used in gloves and boot coverings for the astronauts' suits to prevent accidental puncture. It has the rare quality of withstanding heat in pure oxygen. The yarn will not burn.

Particular emphasis was focused on development of the product following the death of three American spacemen by fire at Cape Kennedy.

Hoskins at Charlevoix makes the yarn and ships it to a Pennsylvania firm where it is made into fabric. Universal Latex Corp. actually shapes it into the suit.

It is doubtful that the sturdy yarn will ever be manufactured for retail sale in a men's store. Even though it would make an ideal suit and probably never wear out, Hoskins said it would cost about $15,000 for a pair of pants and a suitcoat.

Norsaga Places Second In Final Race Tabulation

MACKINAC ISLAND (AP)—Although first across the finish line for the third year in a row, the 70-foot sloop Norsaga out of Milwaukee lost its third successive Chicago-to-Mackinac Island yacht race Tuesday on the basis of corrected time.

The Norsaga, owned by Harry Ziemann, swept across the finish line here at 3:14 a.m. Tuesday, 35 minutes ahead of the next boat in the fleet of 176 which set sail Saturday for the 333-mile haul up Lake Michigan and through the Straits of Mackinac.

The Norsaga's elapsed time was 60.4955 hours, but as the scratch boat of the race the big sloop had to give time to every other in the handicap race.

Bay Bea, another large Class A boat, posted a corrected (handicap) time of 57.7818 hours and thus appeared to have nailed down both the Class A and over-all championship, although a final winner may not be known until Wednesday.

Boats still were strong out

Reggie Smith's Red Hot Bat Sings Against Yanks

By The Associated Press

Reggie Smith is whaling the daylights out of the ball at a fantastic .462 clip so far this month for the second place Boston Red Sox.

Only a poor start in April kept the 24-year-old centerfielder from becoming the leading hitter in the American League. If his torrid July pace continues it appears virtually certain he will out Rod Carew of Minnesota as the No. 1 spot.

Going into today's games Carew led the A.L. hitters with .358 average. Smith was second with .352.

Smith connected for six straight hits Tuesday as the Red Sox split an afternoon doubleheader with the New York Yankees before Stan Bahnsen, who won the second game for the Yankees 4-1, cooled him off in his last three times at bat.

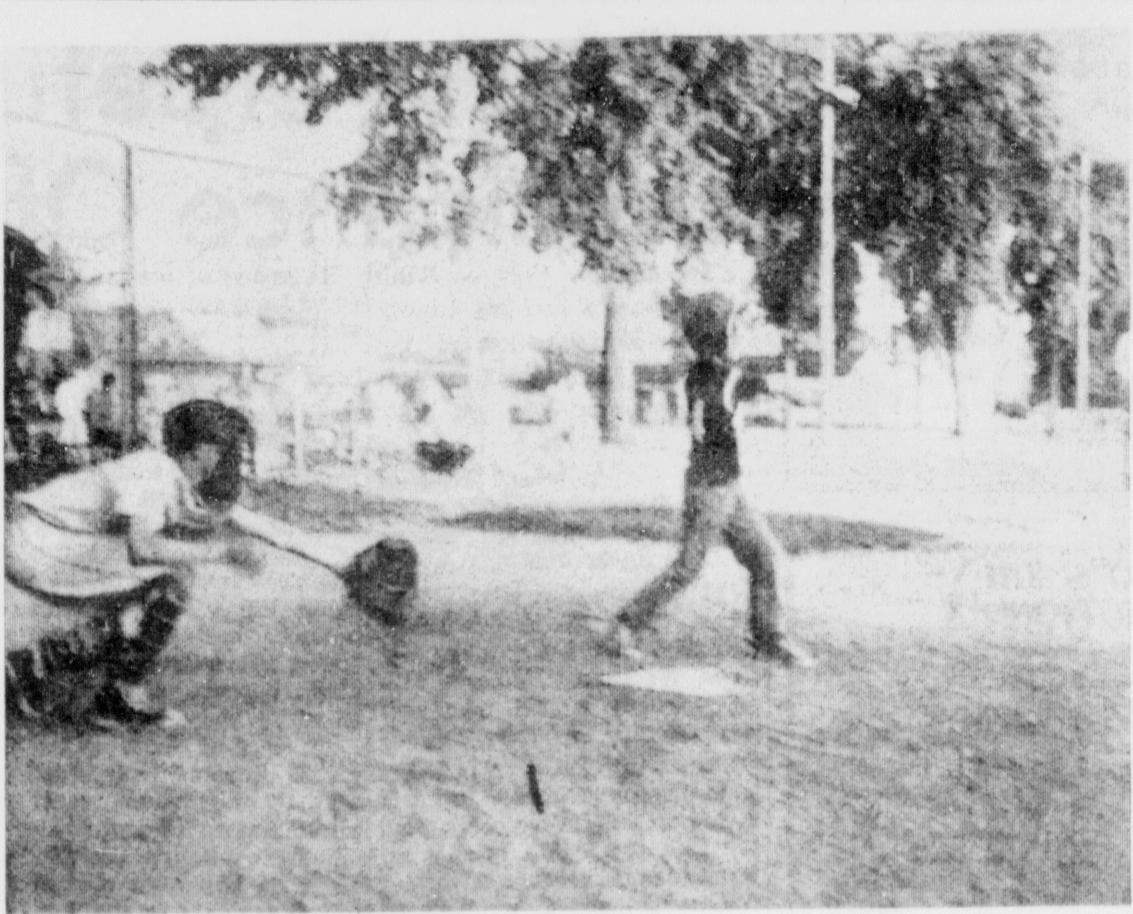

The Sox had won the opener 7-6 thwarting a Yankee rally in the ninth by throwing out at the plate what would have been the tying run.

First place Baltimore trimmed Cleveland 5-1 behind right-hander Tom Pheasant and shot 14 games ahead of runner-up Boston, which split a doubleheader at New York, winning 7-6 before bowing to the Yankees 4-1. Oakland topped Seattle 6-2 and California beat Kansas City 5-2 in other AL games.

The Minnesota-Chicago game was postponed because of wet grounds.

The Orioles snapped a 1-1 fifth inning tie on Andy Etchebarren's run-scoring single, then pulling out of reach on Boog Powell's two-run homer in the seventh, enabling Pheasant to coast to his ninth victory against Boston, which split a doubleheader at New York, winning 7-6 before bowing to the Yankees 4-1. Oakland topped Seattle 6-2 and California beat Kansas City 5-2 in other AL games.

Payday Helps Cardinals Respond Against Phillies

By The Associated Press

It was payday in St. Louis and May-day in Cincinnati.

Warmed by the cushion of freshly drawn paychecks in their wallets, the Cardinals responded by battering Philadelphia pitchers for 17 hits and ripping the Phillies 8-2 Tuesday night. It marked the 23rd consecutive time that the Cards have won on a payday—a streak that extends back to August 1967.

Cincinnati's Lee May, who hits his homers in bunches, had a bunch against Atlanta in a twilight doubleheader which the Reds split with the Braves. May connected twice in each game and drove in 10 runs in

Groleau Hurls Third Shutout

The Teamsters of the Escanaba Softball Association registered their third straight victory last night when they whitewashed Flat Rock, 3-0, between the strong-armed pitching of Bill Groleau.

Groleau, in picking up the victory, hurled his third straight shutout and gave up two hits. In his last three outings, he has walked just one batter while sending 25 hitters back to the dugout after a strikeout.

Billy Smith, the losing pitcher in last night's game, was the only Flat Rock player able to get hits off Groleau. He smashed two line-drive singles to left field in his first two appearances at the plate.

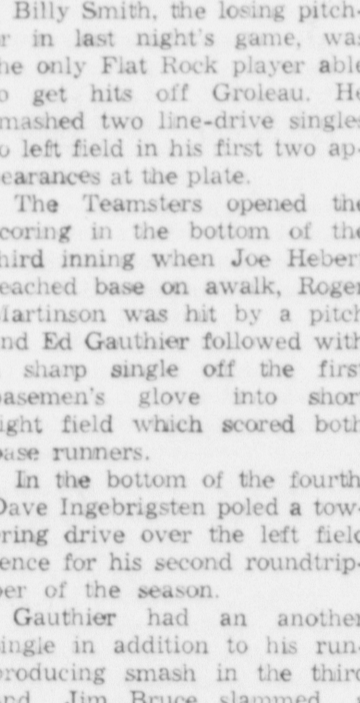

The Teamsters opened the scoring in the bottom of the third inning when Joe Hebert reached base on a walk, Roger Martinson was hit by a pitch and Ed Gauthier followed with a sharp single off the first basemen's glove into short right field which scored both base runners.

In the bottom of the fourth, Dave Ingebrigsten poled a towering drive over the left field fence for his second roundtripper of the season.

Gauthier had an another single in addition to his run-producing smash in the third and Jim Bruce slammed a double for the Teamsters.

In Junior League action last night, Martinson's Stars rolled over the AMVET's, 8-2.

Games tonight at Memorial Field will pit Stroh's against the Michigan Hotel at 6:30 and Trenary against Jolly Roger at 8.

HIS BOY REGGIE—Oakland Athletics owner Charles Finley, who has been known to disagree with players and things from time to time, cuddles his boy Reggie Jackson in Oakland after the outfielder hit his 31st, 32nd, and 33rd home runs against the Seattle Pilots.

Teamsters Keep Unbeaten Record In League Play

The Teamsters kept their slate clean in Escanaba Babe Ruth League action last night by blanking Mead 2-0 at the league field.

Mike Cousineau allowed just one hit, a bunt single by Bill Suriano, in picking up the victory. He struck out seven Mead batters while walking just two.

Dan Bougie paced the Teamsters at the plate with two hits and Gary Bougie and Jeff Hinch chipped in with one each.

The Teamsters are now 6-0 in league play and hold the league lead over second place Kiwanis, which is 3-1.

John "Blue Moon" Odum smashed a three-run homer and also pitched a six-hitter, leading Oakland past the Pilots, who have lost six in a row. Odum, 13-3, capped a five-run sixth inning burst with his third homer of the year.

Throwing errors by third baseman Paul Schaaf and pitcher Bill Butler set up three eighth inning runs as the Angels subdued the Royals behind right-hander Tom Murphy's seven-hitter.

ance was overshadowed by Atlanta's Bob Aspromonte, who pinch hit a single in the eighth inning and then smacked a three-run homer in the ninth inning that gave the Braves their victory. Hank Aaron hit his 534th career homer for Atlanta, tying him with Jimmy Foxx for fourth place on the alltime list.

Al Weis stroked a three-run homer—only the fifth of his eight-year major league career—helping the New York Mets take Chicago. Ken Boswell also homered for the Mets and Ron Taylor saved the victory for Gary Gentry after consecutive eighth inning homers by Billy Williams and Ron Santo knocked out the New York starters.

Padres Win

San Diego exploded for six unearned runs with two out in the fifth inning, knocked out Juan Marichal and beating San Francisco. Tito Fuentes' error opened the gates for the Padres. Ollie Brown unloaded a three-run homer for San Diego and Willie McCovey connected for the Giants.

Carl Taylor drilled a homer and two-run double in an eight-run Pittsburgh first inning and the Pirates pounded Montreal. Richie Hebner also homered in the first for Pittsburgh and Luke Walker won his first major league game on a three-hitter. Rusty Staub and Bob Bailey homered to account for all the Expo runs.

Houston wiped out a five-run deficit, tying Los Angeles in the fourth inning and then pushed across three more runs in the sixth to beat the Dodgers. Norm Miller, who had driven in two runs in the Astros' big fourth, knocked in the tie-breaking run with a single in the sixth.

Al Martin topped all golfers on the course last night with a 34. Other low scores were turned in by Jack Smith 37-38, Jim Schultz 37, Con Pratt 38, Dave Friets 38-39, Dick Nelson 39 and Ward Steimert, Barney Barnhart, John Duca, Bruce Beck, John Beauchamp and Vial Smith 40.

Triple Play By Tigers Fails To Stop Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — Triple plays are rare but the one the Detroit Tigers pulled on the Washington Senators—the first in the American League this year—was even rarer—and it was witnessed by President Nixon.

Unfortunately for the Tigers, the Senators got more runs Tuesday night and won 7-3 for their fourth straight victory, move within a game of third place and in striking distance of second place in the American League's East Division.

In the bottom of the fifth, the Senators had the bases loaded after scoring three runs when Detroit's Daryl Patterson came in to relieve Don McMahon.

Patterson's first pitch was hit by Ed Brinkman on the ground to third baseman Don Wert, playing in close to protect against the bunt.

Wert moved a couple of steps to third, stepped on the bag, wheeled and threw the ball to Ike Brown at second, who then relayed to first baseman Bill Freehan to end the inning.

Detroit's Al Kaline, who has been in the major leagues since 1953, said he had never seen a triple play pulled off on a ground ball.

"I bet you can count those kind on two fingers," he said. "I've seen them on line drives and when it would be a double play but a guy tries to score and gets nailed at the plate. But I've never seen one of those."

"We are lucky the pitcher was

Big O's Manage To Retain Lead

The Big O's hung on to a slim 1 1/2 point lead in the Twilight League standings at the Escanaba Country Club after last night's league play.

Jack Magnuson carded a 37 to pace all scorers in the league while Don McKie had a 38. Harold VanEffen, Wendell Green and Dave Erickson had 39's and Bill Perron, Huncle Kleiman and Jim Fitzharris had 40's. Ken Peterson was closest to the pin on No. 7.

In best ball play, Bill Perron and Tom Straebel tied for top honors with John Besson and Ernie Belanger, each team coming in with net 30 scores. There was a four-way tie for second place at net 31 between John Peltin and Ted Grain. Ernie Belanger and Dennis Tolman, Jack Magnuson and Wendell Green and H. T. Olson and Jack Magnuson.

The Calcutta will be played Saturday, July 19, and there are still a few places open. The auction will take place Friday night at 10 and there will be a steak fry on Saturday night. Those wishing to attend are asked to make reservations.

Team standing: Big O's 53 1/2, Pro-Five 52, Ice Boxes and Pixies 50 1/2, No-No's 50, Finishers 48, Tornados 44, Tim's Tigers 43, Green Berets 42 1/2, Pea Soups 42, Iron Men and Hush Puppies 41, Show-Men 39 1/2, Gravel Gerties 37 1/2, Chown's Clowns and Acers 36, Jack's Pack 35 and Has Beens 33.

Smitty's Smackers were able to come up with 7 1/2 points in Twilight League play at the Highland Golf Club last night to extend their lead over the second place W.R.'s to 3 1/2 points after a slim one-point lead last week.

Al Martin topped all golfers on the course last night with a 34. Other low scores were turned in by Jack Smith 37-38, Jim Schultz 37, Con Pratt 38, Dave Friets 38-39, Dick Nelson 39 and Ward Steimert, Barney Barnhart, John Duca, Bruce Beck, John Beauchamp and Vial Smith 40.

Athletic Field

The Escanaba Athletic Field Improvement Committee will meet at 7 p.m. Thursday at the fieldhouse of the Escanaba Athletic Field.

running to second base," Kaline said. "If it had been another player, he would have taken the second baseman out on the play because Brinkman's not that slow."

Winning pitcher Barry Moore, 8-4, had singled to reach first and was the middle out in the play.

Washington Manager Ted Williams, who played for the Boston Red Sox from 1959 through 1969 except for five years in the military service, also couldn't recall a grounder starting a triple play.

"Wasn't that something," he said. "And the ball wasn't hit that hard. God, it was so easy."

Moore held the Tigers to one run in the first five innings. John Hiller gave up 4 runs in his 2-3 inning stint and absorbed his third loss against two wins.

The only real Tiger threat came in the sixth when Moore walked three in a row with two out and Freehan on base to force in a run.

Reliever Dave Baldwin then came on to fan Mickey Stanley and preserve the win for Moore.

Aside from the triple play, the only bright note for the Detroiters was the return to the lineup of righthand - hitting Bill Freehan and Willie Horton against the left - handed Moore.

Both got hits, but that didn't help much against the 11 - hit Senator onslaught.

President Nixon, making his fifth trip to Robert F. Kennedy Stadium to see the Senators play, brought along astronaut Frank Borman.

Washington owner Bob Short, with whom the Presidential party sat, and Williams agreed that Nixon is "really an enthusiastic fan."

"He certainly has done a lot for baseball," Short said.

Cullen of the Senators hit his first homer of the season, a double and a single in four trips, driving in four runs and scoring twice.

Nixon, who had his daughter Julie and her husband, David Eisenhower with him, stopped by the Senators dugout and shook hands with several of the players, before talking briefly with Williams. He also went into the umpires' dressing room and signed some autographs.

Little League Tourney Squad To Play Friday

The Escanaba Little League tournament team will face Menominee Friday at 1 p.m. at the Munising Little League Field, according to information received yesterday from John St. Amour, tournament director.

The four winners will meet in Iron Mountain on the weekend of July 25 and 26 to determine Michigan District 10 and the U.P. champion. This year's rotation pits the Bessemer winner against K.I. Sawyer while the Munising winner faces the Iron Mountain representative. Menominee is the defending U.P. champion.

SEAM Perpetuates Dominance Of Male

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Kahil "Cal" Samra and his Society for the Emancipation of the American Male think women are okay... as long as they stay in their place.

"I'd say anywhere between 10 and 20 per cent of the membership are women," Samra noted in an interview.

"But," he added after a long pause, "they joined our ladies auxiliary. We'd better make that clear. We have a ladies auxiliary for our female members, however they pay the same."

Samra, who grew up in a Lebanese family where he said father was definitely boss, said the idea for SEAM grew from countless observations of serious family disorders he believed were directly attributable to the increasing dominance of the female in the family.

Underwhelming Samra adopted a humorous approach in spreading the word. "I think at the basis of most humor there's a good deal of seriousness," Samra said.

Since public announcement of SEAM's founding in April, the response — measured in $5 membership fees — has been somewhat underwhelming.

"We haven't had any crowding problems at our post office box," said Samra, 38, who is the former executive director of the American Schizophrenia Foundation. He quit to devote full time to writing a book based in part on his experiences while with the foundation.

SEAM's newsletter is called The American Patriarch. So far only one issue has been printed and Samra indicates another is unlikely in the near future. The newsletter was described as a publication to "advise men on how to regain control of their families and coach women in the art of pleasing and holding onto their husbands."

High divorce and desertion rates were cited by SEAM as some of the serious problems which may result from the declining prominence of the American male.

Stimulating "What we're basically trying to do is stimulate some discussion and get people to think about this thing in terms of the family," Samra said.

"The question is, we feel the family is worth preserving and if the feminists have gone too far then possibly this is one of the reasons why the family is being torn apart."

Samra, who used the pseudonym Carlton M. Brown, when announcing SEAM's founding, said the assassinations of President John Kennedy, Sen. Robert Kennedy and Martin Luther King Jr., appear to have a connection pertinent to SEAM's goals.

He also cited examples of other violence including mass murders.

"Almost invariably in all of these cases that I've studied they either had themselves all kinds of divorces or problems with their women or they had been products of this type of thing...broken homes."

Father Figure Samra said the slain civil rights leader and the Kennedy brothers each represented a strong father figure, perhaps the direct opposite of those accused of the murders.

"In each of those cases the victim probably represented everything the assassin most envied," Samra observed.

Samra said it's possible the killer or killers in several unsolved murders in the Ann Arbor area is the product of a broken home.

Wife's Support "Obviously his relations with women aren't very good," he said.

Basically Samra says he feels that if there were more father-oriented, peaceful homes there would be fewer problems with the children raised in them. He hastens to point out that he is not a trained psychologist. But he says his views have been supported by psychologists.

One joined SEAM and recruited five others as well.

Another said she was also a member of the Female Liberation Movement who joined SEAM noting in a letter to Samra, "I read all sorts of weird drivel."

Samra's attractive wife Kathleen is a loyal supporter:

"I think what my husband is trying to do is important. We see it the same way."

However Samra may not have completely exercised his influence from his home. A reporter recently asked him if he would permit Kathleen to be interviewed.

"Just a minute and I'll ask her," he quickly replied.

Files Candidacy In Detroit Race

DETROIT (AP) — A top city legal aide Monday jumped into the Detroit mayoralty contest with a harsh blast at the three Common Council members who have announced or are expected to announce their candidacies.

Thomas H. Gallagher, 49, chief assistant corporation counsel, filed for the primary and charged Mary Beck, Ed Carey and Mel Ravitz all with seeking the "hypocrite vote." Miss Beck and Carey have announced their candidacy.

Calling himself a "Truman Democrat," Gallagher criticized law and order campaigns which he said the three favored. He called for helping the poor and tempering law and order with justice.

"Any person who is head of a household and is bringing in less than $10,000 a year is dirt poor," he said.

He also took a shot at the three council members for vetoing Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh's request for more policemen in light of their calls for law and order.

Lose 10 Lbs. In 10 Days On New Grapefruit Diet

This is the revolutionary new grapefruit diet that everyone is suddenly talking about. Literally thousands upon thousands of copies have been passed from hand to hand in factories, plants and offices throughout the U.S. and Canada. Word of its success has spread like wildfire, because this is the one diet that really seems to work for most overweight people. A well known Toronto columnist recently praised it to the skies. He reported losing 20 pounds quickly and easily long after he despaired of ever getting down to his wartime weight of 165 pounds. All this without cutting out the occasional beer or rye. If followed exactly the average overweight person should lose 10 pounds in 10 days. There will be no weight loss in the first four days. But you will suddenly drop 5 pounds on the 5th day. Thereafter you will lose one pound a day until the 10th day. Then you will lose 1 1/2 pounds every two days until you get down to your proper weight. Best of all there should be no hunger pangs. Now revised and enlarged, this new diet plan lets you stuff yourself with foods that were formerly "forbidden." Such as big steaks trimmed with fat, Southern fried chicken, rich gravies, mayonnaise, lobsters swimming in butter, bacon, fats, sausages and scrambled eggs. You can eat until you are full, until you cannot possibly eat any more. And still you should lose 10 pounds in the first ten days, plus 1 1/2 pounds every two days, thereafter until your weight is down to normal. The secret behind this new "Quick weight loss" is not generally known. Fat, it has been theorized, does not run fat. Perhaps fat fights fat. And the grapefruit juice in this new diet might act as a catalyst (the "trigger") to start the fat burning process. You stuff yourself on the permitted foods listed in the diet plan, and still lose unsightly fat and excess body fluids. When the fat and bloat are gone, you will cease to lose weight, and your weight will remain controlled. A copy of this new and startlingly successful diet plan can be obtained by sending $2 to The

Unconditional money-back guarantee. If after trying the diet plan you have not lost 7 pounds in the first 7 days, another 6 pounds in the next 7 days, and 1 1/2 pounds every two days thereafter, simply return the diet plan and your $2 will be refunded promptly, and without argument. Tear out this message as a reminder. Decide now to regain the trim attractive figure of your youth, while still enjoying hearty breakfasts, lunches and dinners. ## Nixon, Borman At Tiger Game

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, one of the Washington Senators—baseball variety—most ardent fans, went out to the ball park to see his favorite team in action against Detroit Tuesday night and he brought along some rooting help.

Accompanying the President for the game was Astronaut Frank Borman, who circled the moon in Apollo 8 and his just returned from a tour of Soviet space installations.

Nixon, his daughter, Julie, and her husband, David Eisenhower, arrived just before the game began and sat with Senators' owner Bob Short in the presidential box behind the Washington dugout along the first base line.

A short time later, Borman joined the presidential party and sat next to Nixon.

Nixon, who earlier had told Al Kaline and Tom Tresh of the Tigers at the White House that he would be rooting for the Senators, leaped to his feet and applauded when Washington's Tim Lincecum homered in the second inning to give the local team a 2-0 lead.

The unexpected visit by Nixon was his fifth of the season. He saw the Senators defeat Cleveland 3-0 last Wednesday after watching them lose three in a row on previous trips.

The Nixon outing was a surprise because the President had told Kaline and Tresh he doubted he could get to Robert F. Kennedy Stadium during the four-game series that began Monday.

Kaline and Tresh, Nixon supporters during last year's campaign, visited the President at the White House earlier Tuesday.

Viera's Lawyer Surprise Witness

DETROIT (AP)—The defense attorney in the preliminary examination of Rafael Viera, accused of the murder of a Detroit patrolman in the New Bethel Church incident, March 29, took the stand Tuesday as a surprise witness called by the prosecution and testified he had seen firearms and uniformed men inside the church.

Milton R. Henry, defending the 20-year-old New Yorker, said he had a "panoramic view" from his car of the shooting at the New Bethel Baptist Church March 29.

Michael Czapki was killed and his partner, Patrolman Richard Worobec, was seriously wounded.

Henry, besides being Viera's lawyer, is first vice president of the Republic of New Africa (RNE), a black separatist group which was holding a meeting in the Baptist church the night of the shooting.

Henry said he walked out of the church that night with two other people but declined to specify who, invoking the Fifth Amendment.
